FLOYD COUNTY

FLOYD, VIRGINIA

A variety of good happenings took place throughout 1973-74 and in the community as a whole.

More clubs were added as extra curriculum activities at Our Place. They were the Art Club, HERO, VICA, and the French Club.

A music building which was architecturally designed to produce the best use of acoustics for the choir and band was built adjacent to the main school structure. The new building provides enough room for an ever expanding band, storage of equipment and serves as a place where individual students can practice without interruption.

Girls' Basketball was added to FCHS for the first time ever. The team competed with other schools, and finished with a 4-6 record.

New factories, Pannill Knitting, Floyd Industries and a pulp mill moved into the county and provided additional employment opportunities for prospective seniors. These factories also encouraged more families to move into the county which resulted in additional students.

BAD

FCHS students live in a rural community which is lacking in recreational opportunities outside of the school. The school serves as a central focus for youth oriented activities. Therefore, the energy crises has affected many students living outside of the immediate school area. Some students solved the problem by forming car pools while other students took advantage of the county busing system.

Matters became increasingly worse as day light savings time was brought into effect. A high percentage of the students waited for buses in the dark. To make conditions less hazardous students used flash lights to indicate their presence on the highways.

At school, coats and cold weather apparel became common sights in the 68^o classrooms. Newly designated smoking areas outside of the building posed problems for student smokers who had to withstand rain, winds and snow.

SAME OLD THING

"Sameness" intrudes everywhere in time. It was with us this year at FCHS.

People's names and faces change but some things go on forever.

CHANGE

The nine-week elective program in the English Department which was offered to students from grades ten through twelve was implemented for the first time at Our Place this year. The individual interest of students were considered in scheduling these classes.

The cost of printing and developing pictures for the County Crier and Bison brought a change in the making and construction of a darkroom to aid the staffs and others in the school system was started.

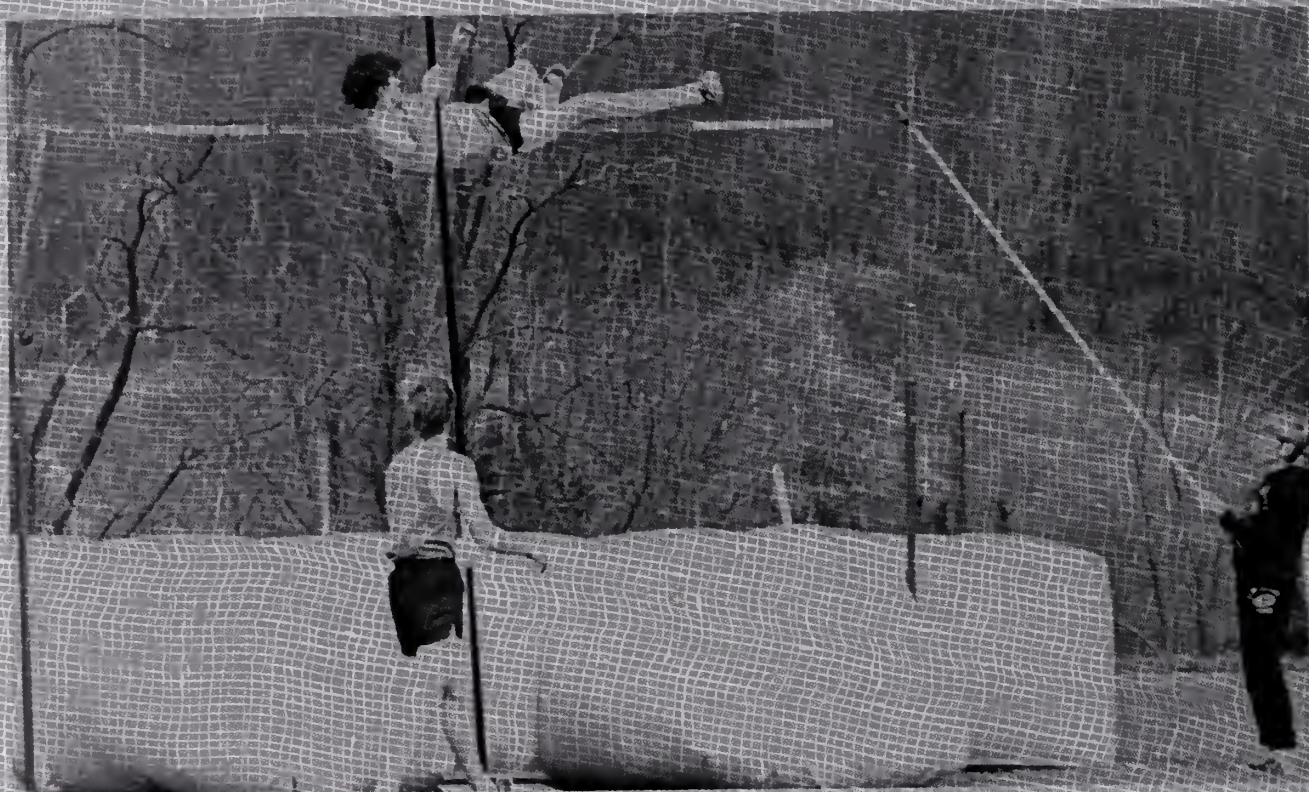

The community as well is changing. New students enrolled at FCHS this year. They were members of new families that have come to Our Place to live. Years past have seen young people and families leave the county to seek jobs and residence elsewhere. This year we saw a change beginning as young people stay and new people come to live at Our Place.

Buffaloes Go 3-7 In Tough New River District

Three cheers for the Varsity football team! This year was their best year ever, as far as score is concerned. The team had a 3-7 record, and stood eighth in the New River District which is the highest that FCHS's football team has ever attained.

Though this placing was due to team effort, two Seniors have been outstanding. C. M. Wimmer, no doubt one of Floyd's best quarterbacks, with 3,207 career passing yards, 19 career T. D. passes, 124 out of 224 passes completed and 53% completion record leaves this year. Also leaving this year is Elmer Turman, responsible for the reception end of Wimmer's record. Turman set a school record and a New River District reception record with 53 receptions, which is just 38 shy of the national record.

Twelve Seniors leave the team this year. They have been playing football through their high school years and have made it what it is now. They leave with the knowledge that they have contributed much to the spirit of FCHS.

C. M. Wimmer and Elmer Turman led the Buffs to a satisfying season.

On the night of October 19, the Buffaloes met the Cavaliers from Carroll County for Homecoming. Although we played a good game, victory was not marked up on our side of the board.

Homecoming '73

From the toss-up in the middle of the field to the final gun, the Buffaloes ran, blocked, fought with all their might to give the Homecoming crowd a good ball game.

J.V.'s Capture 3-4 Record

This year did not hold a winning season for the J.V.'s. Even though the record was 3-4, the team was still a good one.

The J. V. team was strong on running. Harmon, Tolbert, and Wuntke combined were explosive. Helms, whose height was a point in our favor, was at end to help with the passing game.

Though with an unimpressive record, the Baby Buffs never stopped trying, even when the odds were not in their favor. Determination is the greatest factor that a team can have in their favor, and the J.V.'s had it.

A great defensive play stops the Cavaliers short of 1st down.

David Wuntke (30) clears the way for Kenneth Tolbert (21).

Quesenberry. Back Row: M. Cox, J. Boothe, K. Tolbert, W. Via, D. Sewell, A. O'Connor, D. Higgs, T. Higgins, P. Via, Coach Bishop.

Victory Over Cavaliers

Lacking experience and skills, the young Buffs made it up in determination. They didn't quit, even though they had a discouraging 1-6 record.

Coach Harmon, the eighth grade Coach, stated that if the team stays together and works together as it has in the past, that they will eventually be a winning team.

Yes, we have something to be proud of in our eighth graders. They didn't quit. That's the stuff that real football players are made of.

For the first time since Floyd went back into the New River District, the basketball team went to the tournament. The season record was 10-10 with several of the games ending with an exciting two or three point spread.

Varsity Coach Skip Bishop was named Coach of the Year for the district, and Tony Stuart was the district's leading scorer. Other players ranked high in district standings in various categories.

The Buffs provided the fans with one of the most exciting seasons ever, keeping supporters on their feet almost all the time. The fans responded with tremendous support, especially at home games. Their season was an inspiration to those who believe that hard work, hustle, and determination, combined with support from the fans can total up a good record.

J.V.'s Suffer Dissappointing Season

This years J.V. team suffered a discouraging season. Coaching the team was Rookie Coach, James Hodge. Although the team practiced and played hard and well, they just couldn't get the points on the board. The season was not too good on paper but members of the team profited from both good experiences and bad. Neither dedication nor determination were lacking and both will be valuable tools in seasons to follow.

Golfers Tee Off

Our record last year was six wins and two losses. We placed third in New River District, which qualified us for the regional tournament. We placed fifth at regional. Ricky Vest, representing Floyd, was the low qualifier (with the best score of the tournament) with a score of 74, which qualified him the State tournament New Market where he placed sixth.

In Floyd County Golf is a popular sport in the 20-30 age bracket, but not among high school students. There were only six members on the '73 team.

There are 3 out of 6 coming back this year, and somebody has to fill the 4 spot. Hopefully Spring '74 will find the Golf Team outstanding for the Championship.

Roger Hollandsworth, Ricky Vest, David Strickland, and Allen Nester.

Tennis Anyone ?

The tennis team's record last year was twelve wins and two losses. This was their best record ever.

The doubles team, Larry Sowers and Woody Conner, won first place in district and regional. They went on to win third place at state. The team felt that this was, indeed, significant.

In addition to our razzle-dazzle doubles team, one player, Micky Hatcher, made the all district team, and thereby was one of the top six tennis players in the district.

Concentrating on the ball, Micky Hatcher returns with coordination.

Opponents and team mates watch Woody Conner return the ball with ease.

New Sand lot Program makes Baseball Future look promising

We asked Coach Bishop about his team's year in baseball. "Our record last year was five wins and 4 losses. We tied for fourth in the New River District.

The year before last we lost both of our pitchers, and had to break in two new pitchers. Our losses came early in the season, and we started winning toward the end of the season as our pitchers got better.

We lost only one starter from last year (Darrell Vest) so we have eight out of nine returning this year. I'm expecting the team to be real good.

Baseball is one of the more popular sports in the area, and we have a good supply of players coming up through the sandlot program. The future looks bright."

FCHS Has State Champion

Last year track had a winning season, with a record of 6-4 and for the first time, a student from FCHS brought home a state championship. The team tied for fifth place in district, finished seventh at regional, and tied for twelfth in State. Most of this was on points won by Roger McAlexander.

Roger was state champion two miles in the AA division and he established several new records at district and regional in the one and two mile run.

Coach Raines stated, "we were hurt by the loss of David Smith, Phil Reed, and Gary Spence, who were out because of injuries. 1974 will be short about six or so seniors who graduated, including Roger, and when you lose a state champion it's hard but we have some younger members who are looking good. I think we'll have another winning season this year."

The expressions of Coach Raines and state champion Roger McAlexander tell it all.

With a definite plan in mind, Roger McAlexander paces himself and comes to the finish line a winner.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

Sharon Linkous, Captain; Janet Agee, Co-Captain.

Together, Alright!

1973 marked a great year at FCHS with the arrival of the girls varsity basketball team.

The team consisted of 14 dedicated and determined girls striving for success. Suicides — jump — teamwork and win were just a few key words the team responded to during the season.

The girls opened the season with the first big win over Pulaski with the help of Annette Wimmer's 21 points. During the next eight games there were ups and downs but everyone stuck together. The team ended the season with a big win over Narrows; and what a great way to end a season.

The high scorer position was shared by Annette Wimmer and Janet Agee with Sharon Linkous right behind them.

This year will be the first and last for 5 of our seniors. To them we say, "Thanks and Goodbye," with the hope they will be behind us next year.

Yes, 1973 was a great year for the girls' basketball team and 1974 will be even bigger and better. The team has built a firm foundation and will be ready to win next year. It took a team to win this first year and we had a great team . . . Together Alright!!!

At FCHS, along with many other sports, intramurals is an exciting and worthwhile program. Activities such as softball, basketball, tennis and volleyball help the girls to keep physically fit, experience winning and losing, and develop good sportsmanship.

Team work is the most satisfactory result of intramurals. Girls have fun while learning responsibilities. This year, more girls have participated in intramurals than ever before.

FCHS Sees Improvement in School Spirit

Y-E-L-L — Everybody Yell!!

Varsity cheerleaders express important values in leadership, sportsmanship, and personality. Working hard to maintain high spirit and morale for their school's football and basketball teams, our cheerleaders worked together to obtain school spirit.

During the summer vacation the cheerleaders went on a trip to Ferrum College to learn new cheers, helpful advice and encouragement from cheerleading supervisors at the college.

This year under the leadership of Mrs. Sarah Quesenberry our cheerleaders were proud of the overall school spirit from students and faculty.

Victory!! A common cry at Pep rallies.

Halftime cheers for the Buffaloes are led by Norma Hatcher and Carolyn Shortt.

Bev Thompson, Carol Guilliams, and Carolyn Shortt are "in the air" with spirit.

J.V.'s welcome opposing team to Buffalo territory.

Leading us onward in school spirit, J.V. Cheerleaders learn that their spirit rousing is an even more intense job than for the varsity cheerleaders as they strive for equality and recognition of their fine efforts for school spirit. One of the activities that the J.V. cheerleaders worked hard at was selling Buffalo license plates. This was a popular idea in the school and community. More and more the future Varsity cheerleaders will profit from the new and fresh ideas of the younger J.V. Squads.

Avis Shockley and Spring Davidson pose with new buffalo license plates J.V.'s sold this year.

Nancy Phillips does her own victory yell!!

Leading Cheers, A Whole New Experience

Eighth grade cheerleaders are starting out their team right by supporting them through wins and losses lifting their spirits as they go along. Aiming toward as high a goal as the J.V. and Varsity squads set for them the Eighth grade cheerleaders progress thru their own year of spirit rousing.

Baby Buff cheerleaders have their own kind of Buffalo beat

Senior Dance Cut

Seniors during and after school hours prepare for Senior Dance.

Band "Trinity" played a variety of songs for Seniors to dance by.

Whether dancing or talking, couples enjoy the excitement of Senior dance.

Cathy Moran and her escort show a great deal of excitement while dancing.

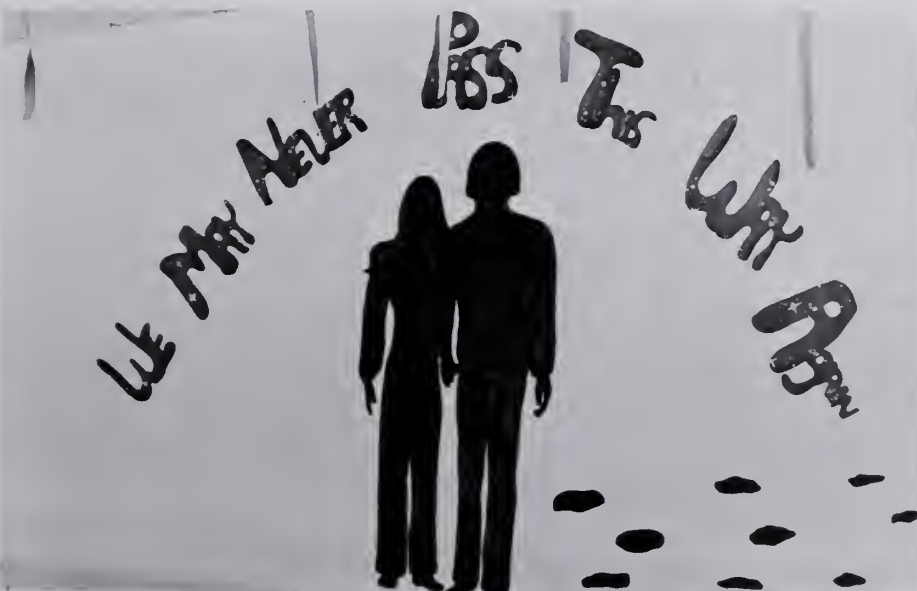

Short Because of Snow

The rotating world helped to carry out the theme.

Slow dancing is a very romantic moment for Pat Austin and her escort.

Decorations on the walls reveals the theme for all to see.

The Senior Dance was held on December 7, 1973. "Trinity" was the band selected to play for this special occasion. The dance was scheduled to last from 8:00 to 12:00 but because of faulty weather the dance ended early. Also because of the weather no pictures were taken of couples.

Last Year Isn't All Work

Sponsors: Mrs. Rebecca Howell, Miss Alicia Synan, Mr. Ellis Enoch, Mr. David Keith, Mr. H.E. Keith III.

Left: School isn't all work for the senior boys.

Being a senior at FCHS has been an experience of a life time.

There have been fun times, such as, watching eighth graders try to cope with a new mode of life, chair racing down the hall, club activities, chicken fighting after lunch, the one and only Senior Day, and simply meeting and talking with friends.

There have also been the serious times — classes, (particularly those required subjects, English and Government) worry over passing, concern about the immediate future if we did pass — serious love affairs — (marriage for several and trying to get everything done in a school day so nights will be free for fun times.)

We have spent five years at FCHS. Changes have occurred — some bad and some good. Some of us leave with a smile — we're free. Some will leave with anxiety — are we really ready for the cold world outside? All leave with a feeling that we have made FCHS "Our Place" for we helped make FCHS just as FCHS helped make us.

135 Juniors walked in the doors of Floyd County High to begin this school year. World problems seemed irrelevant until the groans were heard as we awakened to inflation in ordering class rings. 44 Juniors were tapped into the Beta Club while the guidance office became a frequented place as we looked to the future seeking a place for us. College Boards provided us a new experience. For instance: if a clock presently reads 10:55 what would it read when reflected in a mirror?

We have gained much knowledge, experimented with new and different things. We have been pleased, and we have also been disappointed. But we have succeeded in growing in all phases of school life. For instance, Juniors won first place in the home-coming decoration contest, were in charge of the Jr. and Sr. Prom, scored high on PSAT Test, etc. In all ways we have made this "our place."

Coming from all parts of the county, Check, Indian Valley, Willis, and Floyd, 155 sophomores travel to FCHS each day. Whether they live on a farm and travel 25 miles, drive a car or walk from town and regardless of religion or race these students meet, socialize, disagree and compromise each day. Gaining new experiences, making friends, planning futures, falling in and out of love, each person makes his own decision and sets his own standards on the road to a responsible mature citizen.

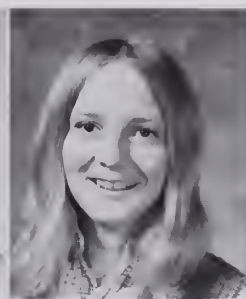

Students were more involved with government this year asserting their opinions and ideas about the situation of the country such as Watergate, impeachment, and the ending of the Vietnam War. Being a class of aspiring drivers, sophomores showed concern over the gasoline shortage.

Sophomores showed much more enthusiasm this year at pep rallies. Probably this is due to each class sitting in a section together. We feel that our accomplishments should not be measured against those of previous classes or future classes but regarded a step by a group of individuals toward the ultimate goal of graduation.

After two years of valuable experience, the class of '76 is familiar with annual school activities. One such activity is the construction of Homecoming decorations. As in years before rivalries inspire efforts and motivate inter-class competition. The sophomore theme of "Come one, come all" was unique in that most of the other entries used Halloween as a theme. Hard working sophomores reaped a third place for their efforts. We'll be here next year.

Challenges

Challenges and new experiences were met by both sophomore students and their sponsors. All in all it was a good year for both. Sponsors became more aware of the problems of students and their responses to their surroundings. Student became more aware of the fact that teachers are human too. There remain problems to be solved but this is "Our Place."

New responsibilities were given to the Freshmen class this year. Instead of being the inexperienced eighth graders of last year, the Freshmen learned to express themselves better physically and mentally. A greater variety of classes and clubs were offered to them and they became involved in many worthwhile subjects. They challenged the upperclassmen for offices and contest placements. Plenty of spirit was added to the school by Freshmen who comprised one-half of the JV cheerleaders.

Eighth Graders Find Student-Teacher Relationships Rewarding

A very bewildered group of eighth graders came to FCHS this year. They were ecstatic over all the free time. Six classes with six different teachers instead of one class all day long with the same teacher was a welcome change. Five minutes before each class seemed great and along with these innovations, they could join various clubs and participate in extra curricular activities. As always, some used their time wisely and matured as the year rolled along, others found their new freedom too much and found troubles heaping upon their heads.

Who knows better the feeling of an eighth grader than an eighth grader. Eighth graders worked hard this year. We participated in many activities such as magazine campaigns and skits and posters which tried to represent eighth graders. We had representatives from the eighth grade in the SCA to help run the school and class officer who worked for us. These people were put in these positions to do their jobs and they did very well.

"Upperclassmen may have thought we were 'punk', but we looked over them and tried to set a goal for the eighth graders. Upperclassmen looked down at us and said 'Hi punk', but we knew we would be in their same position someday, so we kept our feet on the ground, our head in the air and walked proudly up the hall with no discouragement."

"What I'm trying to say is that we were proud to be eighth graders and we didn't let anybody get us down."

Catherine Dobyys, Walker Campbell, JoAnn McBath, Freeda Rorrer, Chris Harmon, Sarah Quesenberry, Alta Turman.

Close to 1000 students crowded into the gym on opening day of school. Some were optimistic, others were pessimistic, many were half-asleep, all were sweltering.

Nevertheless, most of the students heard the principal, Mr. Peak, welcome them to school and outline new rules as contained in the new FCHS Handbook.

Throughout the year, Bob Peak, principal, and assistants Dennis Semones and H.P. Jennings welcomed students' opinions, complaints, and suggestions as well as carried out the more unpleasant disciplinary measures.

Beginning typists develop fundamental skills as they build toward a future in business.

Science labs offer students a chance to individually explore other life worlds.

Members of a clerical typing class experiment with off-set printing.

Classes that fall into the lab category serve two very distinct functions. Students or a group are given basic information and in the same class they have the opportunity to put that information to use in individual and small group research.

The classes can be both physically and mentally strenuous. No matter what the lab class, the student has a chance to "practice" what the teacher teaches.

Every lab class has its hours of giving information and hopefully, of retaining that information.

. . . Drama . . .

Students in Twentieth Century Novels class present a skit from Kill A Mockingbird.

Carol Marshall, Glenn Wood, Trenia Bell and Vickie Poff present a comical skit of the Knights of the Roundtable.

This year the drama classes explored individual and group expression through class work and public performances. Students were able to explore expressions of their own feelings and to be absorbed in the different feelings of a character that they portrayed.

Through preparation for public performances the students gained an understanding of what was expected of both the lime-light on stage activities and the behind the scenes work force.

Many students used what they had learned in drama class to participate in out of class activities such as the forensics program and the One Act Play Festival.

In a makeshift room, David Moran learns the techniques of developing film.

All subjects require specific techniques. To gain these techniques a student may spend much of his time in a classroom with a text and lectures from a teacher. Others find it necessary to "do" rather than read. Whatever the process, techniques are used in practical ways to gain success in any given field of learning.

To succeed in any class, one must have skills. An objective of a school program is to help students develop these skills and become a nature happy, helpful citizen.

No one doubts that it takes creative ability to mold an original piece of art from plaster. Art teacher Mrs. Pauley demonstrates this as Dana Higgs admires her skill.

Wearing earphones and manipulating their own equipment, students in the Vocational Learning Lab concentrate on the immediate job before them.

Studying hard for an English test, Benny Hollandsworth ignores the action going on about him.

The accustomed noise of the machines breaks into the quietness of Clerical Accounting; however, this does not disturb the concentration of business students.

Although most of the work in the Learning Lab is individualized, Mrs. Connie Quesenbeery stands by ready to offer help.

The classroom is not the only place concentration is required. Students seriously use their thought powers in planning decorations.

Learning to learn is a skill we soon acquire at F.C.H.S. Fun and laughter have their time and place but it is also a joy to exert oneself, really concentrate and achieve. The Learning Lab has been a great asset to many students. It offers a quiet place where silence and mass concentration abound, where tape players and headphones are commonplace and where learning materials are differentiated.

Concentration, however, does not always evolve over a book. Sometimes a pep rally or bulletin board tax our brains and the delicate machinery of the vocational building often produces a state so deep one is quite unaware of his surroundings.

The job of the custodians and lunchroom staff is not an easy one, however they work diligently day after day. Every-day the custodians sweep the halls we so casually use as our trash cans whenever we clean out our sometimes messy lockers. They are kept on the run opening jammed lockers for eighth graders, changing locks, opening doors for students and absentminded teachers, and a selection of other time consuming chores. The lunchroom staff deserve a big hand for the excellent job they do. They put in a long day planning and cooking nutritious grade A lunches on an ever shrinking budget. Although meat, milk, and vegetable prices are ever rising, students remain able to buy a well balanced meal for 40 ¢ .

ACTIVITIES

One Night In The Year —

"Dancing in the Moonlight" - the theme for the 1973 Junior-Senior Prom. Beneath decorations of shades of blue accented by a silhouette on a yellow moon, couples danced to music by Selective Service System.

The prom offered the only opportunity for guys and their girls to dress in formal clothes and put their best foot forward for a night of enjoyment.

Couples concentrate on their dancing.

An important part of a dance is taking time to relax and socialize with friends.

Sharon Linkous Reigns Over '73 Homecoming

F.C.H.S. Band waits on the sideline ready to perform in half time activities.

Ray Hollandsworth, Superintendent, places the crown on beaming Sharon Linkous who was escorted by Edwin Chesson.

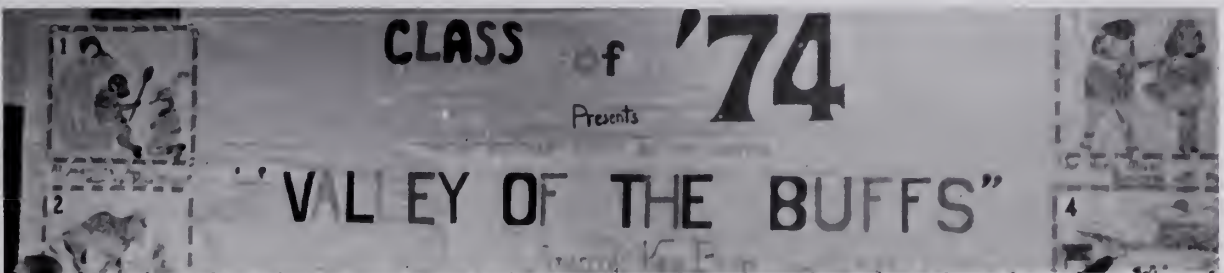

Homecoming: it's a magical word. Every year when it gets to be that time, things start to happen. Representatives of each academic class produced some masterpiece to be entered in the SCA decoration's contest. This year Juniors and Seniors won first and second place respectively.

As the big night approached, the team got fired up ready to take on Carroll County. Alas, victory was not be gained but Homecoming festivities continued. It was homecoming and the crowd enjoyed a spectacular performance by the band and the crowning of the homecoming queen, Sharon Linkous.

Though the game ended in a loss, the crowd left for the dance in good cheer. It's Homecoming!

Beautiful girls, bands, floats, people and more people welcomed Santa Clause with his candy and gifts. Mrs. Susan Huff was chosen by her classmates to reign as Snow Queen. The Beta Club built the queen and her court's float and the SCA bedecked them with flowers.

In addition to the band, many high school students participated in the welcoming of the Christmas season.

What Was To Be . . .

What was to be wasn't because of snow and ice. The highlight of the first semester is the Christmas Assembly usually held prior to the holiday closings; however, this year snow prevailed and the assembly was canceled. But tradition went on and the students recognized the Madonna and Angel, Trenia Bell and Liz Epperly respectively, who were elected by the Senior Class. The Speech class was to have presented a pagent entitled "A Song of Glory". The theme of the one-act play by Anne Coulter Martens emphasized how Christmas has become commercialized and how the real meaning of Christmas has been lost in the rush of the season.

The Madonna, Trenia Bell, and the angel, Liz Epperly, were to be final scene in Christmas pagent.

Magazine Campaign

Kick-Off

Running a school takes money. FCHS sponsors a Magazine Campaign each year for this purpose. This is the only money raising effort made by the school administration. The proceeds are used for educational facilities. This year a camera and a darkroom was purchased.

To kick off the campaign, an assembly was held where students presented skits relating to magazines. After the sales representative presented rules and showed samples of prizes, it was a fun assembly. From the entering of the gym to music by the Pep Band, to the racing at the last minute to buses, student's laughter resounded throughout the gym. The fun set the stage for hard work.

Exceeds Goal

Students Sell $5,475.06

With excitement at its peak, Mr. Peak draws the winning name from a box held by Mrs. Roop.

A very happy winner, Ina Martin, comes forward to accept her TV from Mrs. Roop.

Results

Results amazed everyone. Mrs. Nancy Roop motivated the students and with the help of the FBLA kept tallies of the sales up-to-date. Competition was the key factor. The goal had been set at $4,200.00 — total sales ran to $5,475.06 with 1,146 subscriptions sold. High awards were given to the five top salesmen. Claiming these awards were Karen Lawrence, Roger Hollandsworth, Ginger Bower, Ricky Harmon and Joseph Goad. Promotional awards were won by each student who sold at least three subscriptions. Daily high salesman drew money from a Jack-O-Lantern.

Finally a close-out assembly was held with awards being given and an important drawing for an RCA 12" black and white TV, courtesy of Bob's Radio and TV Service. Ina Martin, surprised and happy, received this early Christmas present.

Gas Shortage Cancels all Extra Choir Activities

A new building meant better sounds and more room for the advanced choir and they took advantage of it. One of the highlights of the year was their Christmas concert which was excellently presented. A crowded auditorium showed their appreciation by prolonged ovations.

The gas shortage prevented the planned trip to Concord college after students had auditioned and prepared their presentations.

The choir was also civic minded and a special ensemble entertained the local Woman's club banquet in October.

The Floyd County Marching Buffaloes is composed of 133 playing musicians. We now have the largest band front in south west Va. which includes 20 flags, 12 rifles, 5 majorettes, 1 solo twirler, 1 flag commander and 3 drum majors. The band performs at both home and away football games in order to support the team. This year the concert band which includes the band front and marching band, is performing grade six music. This is the top level in concert music.

Through out both concert and marching season the band gives its members a healthy sense of competitiveness and builds ones character.

Traditional Honors Dominated By Girls

Valedictorian Jewell Pratt and Salutatorian Dianne Hylton don't even have time for pictures.

A standard of excellence was met by fifteen seniors this year in the accomplishment of an "A" average for 5 years of high school. Not only did these Seniors attain an over 95 average, but they were also active in school life.

There were many others who received honors throughout the year. We have recognized these when possible. Honors do not necessarily belong only to the top few, however, but to the many who participated in school activities.

Mary Sewell buys a copy of the magazine from Andy Quilliams.

Highland Scops, the school magazine, is published twice a year and presents the best creative writing done by Floyd County High students.

The staff's first job is to read all submitted material and select poems and stories on the basis of high quality and appeal to the student body. Once the material has been selected, it is edited and typed.

This year the Highland Scops changed its designation from literary magazine to literary-art magazine in order to display the artistic talent of FCHS students as well as their literary talent. Most students agreed that the addition of art made the Scops a better magazine.

Crier Staff Completes A Class For Credit

JOURNALISM

The 73-74 school year was a big year for news and a busy one for the County Crier.

The staff of 23 new members was one of the largest and most inexperienced in recent FCHS history.

However, after studying the canons of journalism, various newspaper formats, layout styles, and "how to make those 'heads' fit," the Crier journalists were ready for the actual production of the first issue.

Co-editors, Vicki Bolt and Elaine Britt, both first-year journalism students, as was the entire class, worked hard to direct and help the staff create a fine paper.

Four Members Attend Summer Program at VPI-SU

The Upward Bound Club is a group of students interested in attending college. Four of our members are affiliated with the Upward Bound program at VPI and SU, and an undetermined number of our members have applied for the program next year.

During the club's first year we had planned to visit a number of colleges in order to get a preview of college life and an understanding of the different types of colleges available. The club was able to tour Ferrum College this fall, but, due to the gasoline shortage, we have been unable to make any other trips. For the remainder of the year, the Upward Bound Club will invite college representatives to the club meetings.

SCA chooses good bands for sock hops.

Whenever FCHS has problems, be they social or administrative, the SCA steps in. They meet whenever it is necessary to discuss problems concerning activities at FCHS.

This year the SCA carried on its necessary work — the convention, choosing bands for the sock hops, planning and directing the homecoming court activities and dance following, election for Snow Queen, Madonna and Angel, Homecoming Queen and her court, and sponsoring a spring May Day. They also decorated for the Magazine Assembly, and were responsible for keeping the sock hops in order.

Once again they proved that working together means a better school and this year's SCA will leave their mark on "Our Place."

In the fall, forty-two new members were tapped into the club in an impressive assembly.

Projects for the year included building the Snow Queen float, raising and lowering the flags each day, honor tassels for members to wear at graduation, securing guest speakers from nearby colleges and dining at the Barn Dinner Theatre.

Quill and Scroll is an international honor society that encourages interest in journalism and creative writing. It is open to juniors and seniors who are in the upper third of their class and who have worked on one of the school publications. Because of its high standards, the club is a small one. This year only two new members were inducted. Despite its small size, the Floyd Chapter had an active year. An early football concession provided the funds to sponsor two creative writing contests. Both contests were very successful; more entries were received than in any previous year. Other activities in 1973-74 included guest speakers, joint meetings with other clubs, and a tour of a nearby TV studio.

The future Teachers of America, under the leadership of its officers and sponsor, had a very successful year. Students in grades 10-12 who are interested in teaching as a career learned about the educational field through such programs as discussion groups and guest speakers.

Besides the regular club meetings, FTA members participated in serving at the refreshment stand during the football season. Members traveled to the Special Education Center in Dublin. The FTA club gave two fifty dollar scholarships. The scholarships were given to two members of the graduating Senior class who plan to continue their education in a teaching field.

Agricultural Clubs — FFA and KVG

The FFA is a national organization with 8,000 clubs representing students enrolled in agriculture classes. The FFA at Floyd County High is the largest club in the school.

Our primary aim is the development of leadership, citizenship and cooperation.

We strive to live up to our motto: (Learning to do, Doing to learn, Earning to live, Living to Serve.)

KVG, Keep Virginia Green, is organized to help in keeping fire to a minimum. Our purpose is a team ready to aid our county in case of forest fires.

Members Kay Sowers and Doug Sewell listen attentively to speaker at meeting.

The Senior Science Club began the year in the summer with a recycling project. Five tons of used textbooks were collected and hauled to Roanoke Scrap Iron and Metal for reprocessing.

In September, the club members helped set the stage for Bob Brown's Science Circus. Some of them even managed to get into the act.

To conserve fuel, the science club voted to cancel its field trip to Moorehead Planetarium and as a substitute for it to have a hike and picnic in the spring.

The most exciting event of the year was an observation of the new comet, Kohoutek. In January, club members armed with telescope and binoculars charted the path of the comet through the sky.

Club members participated in the annual Science Fair and also attended the Virginia Academy of Science Meeting in Norfolk at Old Dominion University. One of the highlights of the trip was an outing to Virginia Beach.

Presenting the March of Dimes program, Mr. Willett shows film to FBLA members.

The FBLA chapter is composed of 70 students who are presently enrolled in two business classes or a block program. This organization tries to give its members an insight into the business world. It encourages business students to become interested and aware of the many opportunities in the field of business. Members of the FBLA may participate in many of the chapter's activities to gain experience and leadership. Several highlights of this year were the March of Dimes, spelling and arithmetic tests, regional and state conferences, county teacher's tea, skits, and guest speakers.

FBLA serves tea for county teachers.

Members depict the correct procedure for a business meeting in skit.

'73-'74 Future Homemakers were concerned with involvement. Chapter programs have related to this concern through emphasis on the individual, the family, the community, and jobs and careers.

The Art Club

had as its basic purpose a desire to offer interested art students an opportunity to develop an understanding of the social and cultural aspects of the fine arts and gave them a chance to experience the arts in action both in their school and community.

A chapter of the FRENCH HONOR SOCIETY (Société honor-aire de français) was established here this fall. The purpose of SHF is to promote and encourage the study of French culture, language, and literature, striving always for the betterment of Franco-American relations. A high standard of scholastic achievement is required of initiates.

The SHF sang Christmas carols at intermission during the Christmas Choral concert. The energy crisis affected this club as it did others in cancellation of field trips and activities. Since this was the first year of the club, our main objectives were to get organized and raise money for our budget. Additional members were installed into the club at the beginning of 1974.

Girl's Athletic Association

The GAA (Girls Athletic Association) in its first year as an organized club had an enrollment of 110 members. The purpose of the GAA was to promote athletic activities and to create better standards of sportsmanship and athletic skills in each girl. In accordance with this the GAA held two Play Days, fall and spring, in which all the members were encouraged to participate in such sports as track, volleyball, basketball, or softball. The GAA promotes school spirit, sportsmanship and individual improvement for all Athletic minded girls.

Home Economics And Related Occupations

Sharon Hylton and Donna Turman search for jobs related to Home Economics.

Engrossed in sewing, Diane Maberry remains oblivious to all around her.

The HERO — FHA Chapter, a newly formed club, is oriented to the needs and interests of the Occupational Home Economics Students. Programs were planned to help prepare members in getting and holding a job; in developing skills and attitudes desirable for employment; and helping members have more self-confidence and leadership ability. Some of the activities for the club included bake sales, concession stand field trips to colleges and business establishments, feeding various groups, and making clothing for underprivileged children.

HERO Club serves refreshments properly.

Students Involve Themselves With Transportation and Safety

Well qualified students helped their county as well as earned money. Sixteen students had bus permits; nine were substitutes and seven had regular routes. Through snow, all kinds of road conditions, and unruly passengers, the student drivers showed a good driving record.

Oftentimes bus drivers must rely upon responsible students to help them maintain safety. This was the duty of the safety patrol. This may seem an insignificant job to many, but it is certainly worthwhile and these students are commended for their work.

History of 1974 Senior Class

It all started in the fall of 1969. Two-hundred and two of the most excited, mischievous, and ambitious little "creatures" one could ever see assembled at the same place. Yes, those were the days when one looked up to the upperclassmen, and tried, mostly in vain, to make friends with them. Well, time did not stand still, and the years passed. The Class of '74 was building a fine reputation for itself in sports, academic achievements clubs and just plain kindness toward fellow classmates. Graduation lingered constantly in the backs of their minds.

Finally, the fall of 1973 arrived. One-hundred forty-seven of the most calm, polished, experienced young men and women ever assembled at the same place. This was the beginning of the end of a most fulfilling high school career for each of them.

When the year is over, some will be sad, some happy, and some will be unconcerned. But they will all agree on one thing — their memories of FCHS, good or bad, will live within their hearts forever.

Initiation into clubs brings friends together in sympathy.

Charlotte Harris lands properly in gymnastics stunt.

Volume XI of the BISON was lithographed by Hunter Publishing Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Press run: 735 books of 208 pages. Portraits by Graham School Pictures. Cover picture photographed in Floyd County by Jim Ellis, Hunter representative.

Our Place —

The sun sets on Floyd County High School and we see many different emotions — happiness for Seniors because they have finally graduated, and sadness because they may never see some of their friends again. But there will always be memories. No matter what happens, students will always look back on 1973-74 and know that FCHS was "Our Place" because we were there, and we made it what it was.
